The 12th annual Mokena homecoming held over the week end, has gone into history with a glowing report of a large crowd and a successful affair.

The weather was ideal, a little rain fell on the opening night which did not last long and therefore did not dampen any activities or good time.

There were the rides for all who wanted them and by the way they were patronized, were fully enjoyed.

The entertainment was high class each evening and Sunday afternoon, and Whitney Carter, local Rock Island agent, did a splendid job of Emceeing. He was sponsored by Morry Larson.

Talent was furnished by various dancing studios of Joliet and several numbers were so outstanding that Mr. Carter states he will endeavor to have them on some TV or radio programs. Mr. Carter is a professional master of ceremonies and appears in various parts of Chicago and suburban territory. Terry Hartnett, well known singer of Chicago and Frankfort, sang each evening and added much to the program.

The parade Sunday afternoon surpassed all expectations. There were many lovely floats. The Orland Park 4-H club received a loving cup for being the most unusual float. The Amvets float, with two rifle stacks and vets in uniform easily won the first prize loving cup. They expect to have it in the Tinley Park Labor Day parade, by request. Second prize, also a loving cup, went to the Swanberg Farm and Auto Service for their fine entry and the third prize loving cup went to Tony Dina's barber shop display. It presented a barber shop quartet who sang while a barber was doing his best to shave a hard customer.

The barber was Joseph Ducek, Carpenter street, and the customer was Mr. Dina, the regular barber. The quartet, four young men who got together just Saturday evening and who practiced just one hour, were Norman Olson, Stewart and Bruce Shoop and Dick Gillette. They did a fine job and their music was much enjoyed.

Norval Robinson again did a fine job at handling the parade. Honorable mention ribbons were given to the Schiek Dairy, Mokena, who had their brand new milk delivery truck with a miniature cow on the hood; Blue Bird Construction, George Wannenmacher's Midwest grocery store, Mokena State Bank and Morry Larson, who had a comic entry of an ancient car.

WILL CO. FAIR AT PEOTONE THIS WEEK END

The Will County Fair, to be held at Peotone August 24, 25 and 26, this year was one of the few fairs to introduce a tractor pulling contest at county fairs in Illinois last year. Since the contest proved to be one of the outstanding attractions at the fair, the directors went to considerable expense to purchase a new type testing gauge to measure the pull of the tractors. Under the new plan of contest the tractors will again be placed in weight classes of under 3500 pound, 3500 and under 4500, 4500 and under 6000, and 6000 and over. However, the winners in each class will be determined by the ratio of the pounds pulled to the weight of the tractor. The fair directors hope that this will prove to be a fairer contest. To stimulate the interest among the spectators, each contestant will wear a number and announcements will be made over the public address system to keep the audience up to date on the positions of the contestants.

Television has done a great deal to revive the sport of wrestling. The fair association went to considerable effort to promote a wrestling card for Friday evening, August 24, supervised by the Illinois Athletic commission, that would be a credit to the fair and interesting to the wrestling public. A group of creditable performers including two midwits are being headlined by the Lone Eagle The French Angel was scheduled to wrestle but the Illinois Athletic Commission recently ruled that he could not wrestle due to a physical weakness. Another headline attraction will be substituted for him.

Joie Chitwood is bringing his troupe of auto daredevils for two performances Saturday, August 25. He won fifth place in both the 1949 and 1950 Indianapolis Speedway classics. A special added attraction with the Chitwood show is a parachute jump by Jack Huber from a height of three miles and he tries to land on the race track. This feat of daring should be thrilling to old and young alike.

Sunday, August 26, brings forth Bob McKinley for two performances of his thrill packed, diversified rodeo and western show. McKinley's Rodeo has always met with thundering applause where other rodeos have failed.

In addition to these feature attractions they will have the baby contest, many commercial exhibits, as well as a large exhibit of livestock and domestic arts.

TAX FACTS

By George J. Mahin, Executive Secretary
Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

Speaking for myself, and I suspect about 8 million other people in Illinois, I wish some newspaper or university or economist or somebody would explain in simple language how increasing federal taxes by 10 billion dollars is going to hold down the rising cost of living. It must be so, since a lot of reputable organizations and learned economists appear to be in agreement on this proposal, although they disagree as to how the extra 10 billion dollars should be plucked from the people's pockets.

They say that the people have more money to spend than there are things to buy; that prices will therefore continue to rise unless this excess purchasing power is taken away by higher taxes.

But how will transferring the money from the people's pockets to Uncle Sam's pockets take that money out of circulation? Will Uncle Sam bury it at Fort Knox? Will he destroy it? On the contrary, based on past experience, it appears to be a lead-pipe cinch that Uncle Sam who has become the most profligate spendthrift in history will spend it. Won't every penny of it find its way back into the pockets of consumers without increasing the available supply of consumers goods one iota? Is-

How Social Security Effects You

By Clarence Klepper

It is important that you understand the social security benefits to which you are entitled. Regardless of whether you are fully insured or only currently insured under the social security law the amount of the payments depends upon the size of your "basic benefit". This basic benefit is also called your "primary insurance amount".

In order to find your basic benefit you must first know your average monthly wage. Your social security office or qualified life insurance agent will help you determine this amount as provided for under social security regulations. The formula for determining your basic benefit is this: 50% of the first $100 of your average monthly wage, plus 15% of the next $200. Your basic benefit therefore cannot be more than $80 per month. All benefits paid to you or your family are expressed as percentages of this basic benefit.

Your widow who has one dependent child of yours is each month paid an amount equal to 75% of your basic benefit. In addition, your dependent child also receives this amount. If there is more than one surviving child each child gets 50% of your basic benefit, plus 25% of your benefit divided by the number of children. A surviving widow is also paid a lump sum death benefit equal to three times her husband's basic monthly benefit. These benefits are provided those who are currently insured.

As soon as you are fully insured under social security regulations you receive these additional benefits: a monthly retirement payment equal to your basic benefit, as soon as you pass age 65. You receive this as long as you live. Your wife also receives a monthly payment equal to one half of your basic benefit as soon as she is 65. This amount is also paid unmarried children under 18 when you reach 65. Your widow, upon reaching 65, is entitled to 75% of your basic benefit. Sometimes parents can get benefits when you do not leave a widow or dependent children.

I. C. Scheduled Fare Increase in Question

(CNS)—A suit to block the Illinois Central railroad fare increase scheduled for Aug. 25 was filed in Federal court Friday by the state of Illinois and the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Commerce commission spokesmen termed the suit "the latest step taken by the commission in its battle to vindicate the state's jurisdiction over the purely local fares for the IC's suburban service."

An IC appeal is pending in Circuit court on the state commission's denial of a fare increase on Feb. 28. The IC had asked both the Illinois and the Interstate commissions for authority to raise commutation fares by $2 million a year.

After the Illinois body refused the IC's request, the Interstate commission granted the IC an increase of $1,300,000 on July 30 despite the state group's claim that the federal body lacks jurisdiction over fares wholly within Illinois and that there is no justification for the increase.

The Illinois commission contends that the federal order is invalid because, first of all, the interstate group has no jurisdiction over intrastate operations; second, the federal commission's findings that the present suburban fares are a burden on the railroad's interstate operations are not supported by the evidence; and thirdly, that the interstate body acted unlawfully in prescribing the new fares when the railroad's appeal is still before the Circuit court.

The Illinois commission's suit also charged that the IC failed to give the required 15 days notice to the public before putting the increases into effect. It said that only when a long distance phone call was made to Washington on Thursday was it revealed that the railroad had filed notice of its intention to put the increases into effect on August 25.

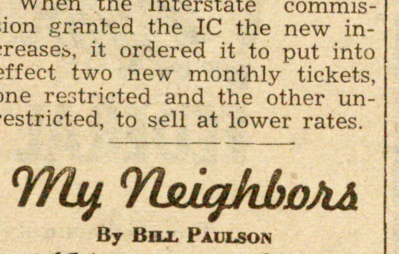

Filed by the Illinois attorney general's office, as attorney for the state and the commerce commission, the complaint asked for a temporary restraining order pending hearing and disposition of a motion for a permanent injunction which must be heard before a three-judge federal court.

The federal commission split seven to four when it granted the IC increases, which average about 20 per cent over present rates. Because the IC is acting on federal authority, the state's suit names the United States as defendant.

When the Interstate commission granted the IC the new increases, it ordered it to put into effect two new monthly tickets, one restricted and the other unrestricted, to sell at lower rates.

Are You a Citizen?

Lesson for August 26, 1951

LET'S come down home. The official title of this week's lesson is "The Christian's Responsibility in Public Life." That is a big thing, a wide circle; but the center of the circle is you, my friend, and right around you is the community in which you live.

What kind of town is it? Not how big, but how good. It doesn't have to be a town at all. It may be a section of open country, a few miles of farms, ranches or woodland. But it is some kind of community.

In New York state the Citizen's Council prepared the following set of questions which can be used to help you rate your community. After each set of these questions write down either 10 for good, 5 for fair, or 0 for poor.

Rate Your Town
"1. Education: Does your community make modern education available to every child, youth and adult? Are its schools uncrowded, properly equipped, and in good physical condition? Are the teachers highly qualified and well paid?"

"2. Housing and Planning: Is every family decently housed? Is there continual planning for improvement of highways and other community essentials? Are parking, transportation problems under control?"

"3. Religion: Is full opportunity for religious expression offered to every individual in your community? Are your churches strong and well supported?"

"4. Equality of Opportunity: Do people of different races, religions, nationalities have full chance for employment and taking part in community life? Are dangerous tensions kept at a minimum by avoidance of discrimination and injustices?"

"5. Economic Development: Are good jobs available? Do labor, industry, agriculture and government work together to insure the sound economic growth of your community?"

"6. Cultural Opportunities: Are your citizens' lives strengthened by ample opportunity to enjoy music, art, and dramatics? Does your community have a professionally administered library service which benefits people of all ages? Do your newspapers and radio carefully review the affairs of the community?"

"7. Recreation: Are there enough supervised playgrounds and facilities for outdoor activities? Does your community offer full opportunity to take part in arts and crafts, in photography, and in other hobbies?"

"8. Health and Welfare: Are medical care and hospitalization readily available? Is provision made for underprivileged children, the aged, and the handicapped? Can families in trouble secure the help they need?"

"9. Government: Do capable citizens seek public office? Are your officials concerned above all with community betterment? Does controversy stem from honest differences of opinion and not from squabbles over privilege?"

"10. Community Organization: Is there any organization (community forum or the like) representative of the whole community, working for the advancement of all? Do your citizens have opportunity to learn about and take part in their local affairs? Is there an organized community-wide discussion program?"

It's Up to You

NOW add the scores you have put down for each of the ten groups of questions. A total of 100 is fine; 50, fair.

But now look over those questions again. Is there anything you could do, personally, about each of those things? If so, have you done it? Have you done as much as you could? Have you ever tried to get other people interested?

You can make another score sheet and head it: How I Rate as a Citizen. Then grade yourself under each of those ten heads, 10 for doing all you can, 5 for doing a little something, 0 for nothing at all. If you are a Christian, be especially strict with yourself.

If you were out of it, would your community miss you as much as you miss salt when some one forgets to put it on the potatoes? If you left your community, would it seem a bit darker there after you were gone?

With "better methods" the theme, the new display, especially produced for county fairs, shows how electricity saves both dollars and labor for the farmer.

Housed in a "big top" tent, 60x 60 feet, the exhibit features actual electrical equipment, working models and blow-up photo-

The feed handling equipment consists of a model unit including grain bins, corn crib, conveyors, package type conditioning unit and automatic feeding devices.

MR. PIG GOES TO WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT OF FEED FIRM TAKES LIVE PIG TO WASHINGTON TO FIGHT PRICE CONTROLS—STRESSES NEED FOR STRENGTHENING MORAL FIBER OF BUSINESS, SOCIAL AND POLITICAL LEADERS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Ben A. Roth, farmer, feed manufacturer, hatcheryman, and president of Honeggers' & Co., a million dollar feed and hatchery firm at Fairbury and Forrest, Illinois, who flew into Washington Sunday, June 24, with a twenty-pound pig and Mrs. Roth and E. F. Dickey of the Honegger firm, met with midwest Senators Monday, June 25, and presented the following ideas:

1. I brought a twenty-pound live pig here to Washington in order to try and make apparent a fact of which I do not believe many people are aware.

That fact is that there is twenty more pounds of pork per year rapidly becoming available for every man, woman and child in America through improved livestock production and recent nutritional discoveries.

It is an established fact that farmers for years have been losing forty percent of the annual pig crop of over 100 million pigs. This is the equivalent of over fifty pounds of pork per person in the United States.

We have evidence that farmers are cutting that loss substantially this year. It has been officially reported that midwest farmers have saved one more pig per litter this year over the past long period average and many farmers are doing even better.

One extra pig per litter with 5,000,000 sows farrowing twice a year means 10 million extra pigs which, marketed at 200 pounds, provides approximately 13 pounds more pork per capita.

We believe that at least another increase of 7 or 8 pounds per person will occur from death losses prevented between weaning and market time through the same better feeding discoveries.

These facts are substantiated by leading agricultural research. The experiments of our own 400 acre test farm and by our statistics and those of our Federal Government of actual results being presently obtained by midwest farmers.

2. These same nutritional discoveries have demonstrated feed savings of up to 17 tons of total feed per 100 pigs produced.

This is the equivalent of 600 million bushels of grain which, if saved and used to feed hungry people throughout the world, would in our humble opinion go farther than a like amount of bombs to build peace and good will among the people of every nation.

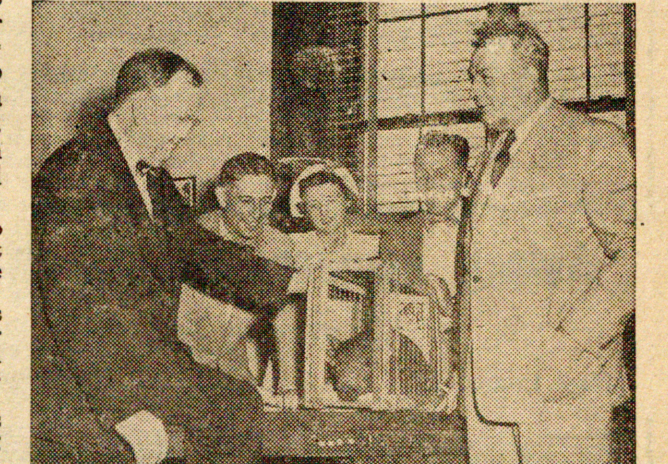

3. My people, my friends, and my neighbors are farmers. We are for the most part humble people. But we are honest people and we work for a living. We don't believe in buying things we can't pay for. In other words, we don't believe in deficit financing whether in our personal lives or by our government.

4. We do not believe in price controls because they create nothing but fear. We believe that efficient volume production is the only way to keep down prices whether it be applied to agriculture or industry.

5. We do not believe that there is any real shortage in this country except in some few isolated lines—certainly it is not in agricultural products.

We have had price controls placed upon automobiles, refrigerators and

OINK, OINK—NOW WAIT A MINUTE, MR. SENATOR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"There's more meat for the American family table if my boss is encouraged to take advantage of the great nutritional advances in pork production instead of being tied down with price controls and production regulations," says Mr. 20-Pound Pig shown visiting Senators Everett R. Dirksen, (R) Ill., and Homer Capehart (R) Ind. The pig was brought to Washington by Ben A. Roth, farmer, feed manufacturer, hatcheryman, and president of Honeggers' & Co., Fairbury, Ill., who says that it represents the annual extra pork potential for every man, woman, and child in America if government controls do not destroy the farmers' desire and ability to produce. Mr. 20-Pound Pig claims to be the first pig ever to ride a TWA Constellation and the first pig to have ever gone to Congress. He says that a little more hog sense in our legislative procedures should be a wholesome influence. Oink, Oink. Pictured from left to right are Senator Capehart (R) Ind., E. Dickey, of the Honegger firm; Mrs. Roth; and Senator Dirksen (R) Ill.

more it is considered lightly by more and more people.

8. Where will it lead? In my humble opinion the answer to this whole problem of domestic turmoil and world-wide disorder is an individual responsibility of every man and that the answer will only be found through Moral Rearmament of all our people, but more particularly it is going to be required of our leaders in Industry, Business and Politics.

Our firm is tremendously interested in the question of Moral Rearmament and we recently sent two of our key Executive personnel to attend a World Conference on this subject being conducted by outstanding leaders from many lands.

Many great firms and prominent people, such as Eddie Rickenbacker, head of Eastern Air Lines, are tremendously interested in this same movement to strengthen the moral structure of our country.

We spent our firm's money to send these men and their wives to this meeting because we believe that as a firm we must do our part to bring about better morals in the conduct of our own business and the personal lives of ourselves and our employees as we deal with our customers daily.

We believe that we have been wrong many times in the past and that the change must start with us as individuals if we are to save ourselves and our friends and neighbors from total destruction.

"Just Been Thinkin'"

All of us can learn a lesson in patience from the fellow who sits in the shade, hour after hour, confidently hoping that eventually a good-sized fish will be splashing about on the end of his line. A fisherman's preparation, application, and tenacity comprise a worthwhile method of attaining any goal, regardless of the area in which we seek to win distinction. In the long run, there can be no substitute for continued effort buoyed up by inexhaustible

PATIENCE

Fishermen will tell you Of some quiet power That brings the catch undreamed of

At the latest hour.

So it is with living

In each varied phase—

Patience in a purpose

Is the force that sways!

And the man who reaches

Heights in any art

Does so through the presence

Of patience in his heart.

Fishermen and athletes;

Artists mixing paint;

All our young inventors;

Every growing saint;

Writers and musicians—

All of these express

Patience slowly working

And speeding their success!

Tinley Cinches League Championship

On Sunday, August 19, Roberts Park visited Tinley and were shut out by a 17-0 score. This win gave Tinley 12 straight wins and the undisputed championship of the South West Community League. Henry Siebrandt pitched his usual steady game, giving up six scattered singles, struck out 12 men, walked 4 and hit 1 batsman. Anderson lead Tinley in the hitting with 4 for 4, Rick had 1 for 1, Nasebandt 2 for 3 and Simnick 1 for 2 times at bat.

On Sunday Tinley will visit Midlothian to play their next to last game in league play. Game time 2:30.

N. L. and Mokena Scouts on Hike

Russell Geuther, Sheldon Hauck and Jerry Merfeld returned Saturday from a trip to southern Indiana and Kentucky. While on this trip the boys completed two Lincoln Trail hikes sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America. The shorter of the two hikes was from Ferry Park, Troy, Indiana to Lincoln State park, a distance of 17 miles. It follows the route of the Lincoln family in their trek from Kentucky to their new Indiana home which is now Lincoln State park. It is also the route frequently taken by young Abe as he went back and forth to work on the ferry. A beautiful medal is awarded jointly by the Indiana Historical society and the Southern Indiana council to all first class scouts who complete the hike.

In his boyhood days, Abraham Lincoln and his family did much hiking and traveling in Hardin and Larue counties of Kentucky. Scouts and Scouters of the Louisville Area council, realizing the significance of the area, laid out and inaugurated the Kentucky Lincoln Trail in August, 1942. The trail itself is a 34 mile hike that extends through a scenic mountainous section of Kentucky.

Except for the portions that of necessity follow a paved highway the route and country are little different from those walked by Lincoln as a boy. The hike starts at Elizabethtown, Ky., and takes the hikers through Roanoke, to Lincoln's boyhood home at Knob Creek, White City, Ky., Leafdale, Buffalo and winds up at the Lincoln memorial in the Abraham Lincoln National park. The boys were joined in this hike by a scout from New Mexico. The Louisville Area council awards a medal to all scouts who complete this Kentucky hike.

Two years ago Russell Geuther and William Bradley walked the Illinois Lincoln Trail hike between Petersburg and Springfield, Illinois.

Wed in St. Paul's Church, August 4

Miss Gladys Bettenhausen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bettenhausen, of Chicago Heights became the bride of Eldon Huenerberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huenerberg, of Beecher, at 3 o'clock, Saturday, August 4, in St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church, Chicago Heights. The Rev. Walter Bloesch read the double ring service. Mrs. Conrad Bachman sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" to the organ accompaniment by Mrs. Leola Emde. Altar decorations were colored gladioli.

The bride was gownned in white satin trimmed with Chantilly and made with net yoke, long train, long pointed sleeves and long train. Her lace edged, fingertip veil was fastened in a crown of pearls and she wore a rhinestone necklace. Her cascade bouquet was formed of white carnations and baby mums.

The bride's attendants wore similarly styled gowns of ninon and lace with fitted bodices and full skirts. Their bouquets were colonial in shape, made with carnations. They wore picture hats to match their gowns. They were Miss Edith Starbeck, maid of honor in blue with pink flowers; Miss Lola Huenerberg, in orchid with green flowers; Miss Lois Andres in aqua with yellow, Miss Loretta Stuenkel, in pink with blue flowers; Miss Joyce Bauch in green with pink flowers; and Miss Betty Kiedaisch, in yellow, with orchid colored flowers.

The groom was attended by the best man Ronald Kiedaisch, and groomsmen, Donald Hinspeter, Leroy Kopman, Leroy Wehrman, Lester Haseman and Frederick Keuch. William Bettenhausen and Welton Kiedaisch were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue sheer with matching accessories. Mrs. Huenerberg was dressed in navy blue crepe with black and white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations. A reception was held in the Beecher hall. The table was decorated with multicolor glads and lighted with candles. The couple left for a trip through Canada and the eastern states and planned to visit Niagara falls.

The bride is a graduate of Bloom THS and is employed as a secretary by the Weber-Costello company of Chicago. The groom is a graduate of Beecher Community High school and is employed by the Steger Furniture company.

Evangelical Church Day in Berlin

A thrilling news story by E. G. Kloppe of the Inter-church Aid and Service to Refugees about the 1951 Evangelical Church Day has come out of Germany. The following are quotes from his story:

"Over 80,000 people filled the Stadium in the East-Sector (Communist controlled) of Berlin to overflowing for the youth service. It was pathetically easy to pick out those from the East zone by the clothing they wore. One wondered how many feet had already worn the same shoes. For the Germans behind the Iron curtain the "Kirchentag" was doubly significant. They could never have attended one in the West Zone, if for no other reason than that it takes five Eastern (Russian) marks to equal one mark in the Western. But more important was the evident relief these folks felt to breathe free air again. As the brilliant speaker pointed to the primacy of our allegiance to Christ, and singled out the idolatries that modern men practice, the large assembly seemed unanimously to applaud anything that alluded to the restricted life behind the Iron Curtain.

So overwhelming was the response to the "Kirchentag," especially from the East Zone, where Communism, like Nazism before it, is attacking the church through the youth, that the governmental leaders decided to be friendly.

It was a thrilling experience to see the church united in its Christian witness to a disunited world. The forces that want to divide the world into armed camp could not keep the church from proclaiming and demonstrating a brotherhood in Christ."

FRANKFORT SETS ELECTION DATE TO AFFIRM TAX

The Frankfort School Board No. 157 have found it necessary to call an election to reaffirm their present educational tax rate. This election will be held Thursday, August 30, at the school house between the hours of 12:00 Noon and 7:00 P. M. The purpose of the election is to reapprove the present educational tax rate of the District which was voted on in June of 1947. It will not establish a higher tax rate for the District, but will leave the rate as it has been for the past four years.

This election is necessary because of a recent Supreme Court decision which held that school elections such as were held in the Frankfort District were void. This affected a great many school elections held since 1946. However, the recent session of the Legislature passed a new law to legalize this decision of the Supreme Court. This law provided that any district could reaffirm their previous tax rate by holding an election for that purpose prior to September 1, 1951.

It was pointed out by the School Board that if the school were forced to go back to the 1946 tax rate, it would be impossible to operate the school for the coming year. All voters of the District are urged to attend this election and reaffirm the educational rate for the District.

You'll Save More Corn

with the

JOHN DEERE
No. 200
Corn Picker

Yes, you'll save more corn in either straight or contoured rows with a thrifty, light-pulling John Deere No. 200 Two-Row, Pull-Type Corn Picker.

Ground-hugging gatherer points and wide-and-gently-sloping gatherers guide more corn into the big-capacity snapping rolls. Aggressive-husking rolls handle the heaviest crop without waste. Twisting contour rows are no problem with the No. 200, for the close-coupled hitch always keeps the wagon directly under the elevator hood.

Weighing 700 to 1,000 pounds less than other two-row pull-type pickers, the John Deere is a lighter load for your tractor... a "working" picker when fields are too soft for heavier machines. Ask us for free literature.
